

Memorial and Recognition Garden

Mark a place in history:

Through many years of dedication and hard work, we have helped make a difference in the world. Now you have the opportunity to honor those who made that commitment to our vision with a commemorative brick that will be placed in the Memorial and Recognition Garden at our national office in Washington, DC. You may choose to honor historical leaders like Emory Reeves or Grenville Clark or you can mark your own part in this movement.

You may also have a brick laid in honor or memory of a special loved one.

With a $1,000 contribution, a standard brick with your inscription will be placed in the Memorial and Recognition Garden. With a contribution of $2,500, a larger, limited-edition brick will be laid alongside similar ones honoring special leaders such as Norman Cousins and Sen. Alan Cranston.
